MOVEMENTS OF THE SOUTHERN ARMY. The Memphis Bulletin of the 17th learns from the Geneda Appeal of a late date that the Confederates, in considerable force, are moving upon Nashville, and we have a confimation of it in the dispatches in our columns this morning. Murfreesboro, according to the dispatches, was as good as in the bands of Gen. Forrest. It is intimated that the next move will be upon Nashville. It is understood that Beauregard has been shelved by Davis, and that Generals Price and Bragg are in command of the Southern army. The movements of Morgan in lons of this army. Some of them have gone Kentucky, and Forrest in Tennassee, therefore, may be significant of an advance of the Southern army. If not they will be speedily forced to fall back to their former position.

We have received from Mr. Wm. M. Aikman, now at Memphis, the following extract copied by him from the Grennda Appeal, just received at Memphis as the Woodford left. We are quite confident it wili prove like the report of the capture of General Curtis' command, a rebel canard, manufactured to inspire the waning hopes of the rebels:

Vicksborg, July 15 .- The most brilliant of ail naval engagements in the history of the world has just transpired. The Confederate gunboat Arkansas, 11 guns, Capt. J. N. Brown, formerly of the U. S. steamer Ningara, left the mouth of Yazoo this morning at six o'clock, encountering the enemy's gunboats from the mouth to the main fleet of 30 boars lying just above the city, where they were formed into line of battle to meet her. Running steadily through, arming and firing into everything as she passed, sinking several and damaging others. The enemy's loss is not known; many jumped overboard from one of the exploded gunboats, and were drowned. The destruction of the enemy was undoubtedly immense .-The Arkansas now lies in safety under the gons at 'he landing, where Capt. Brown and his gallant crew were warmly welcomed, and the dead and wounded were well cared for. The enemy soon opened a furious fire on the boat and city from both fleets, without any important result. The Arkansas is a triumphant success, but slightly damaged and will soon be in pursuit of the enemy's boats. She will soon clean out the first. Within the last hour the lower fleet has fled, tranports and allfirst blowing up one of their mortar boats. Our loss was 10 killed and 13 wounded. Capt. Brown was slightly wounded in the head Gens. Van Dorn, Breckinridge and Smith are here, and there is great rejoicing throughout the army at so wonderful an [Signed] COLEMAN. From Gen. Curtis' Army.

From the Memphis, Bulletin, of the 17 h We learn from Gen. Osterhaus, who, with several other officers, arrived here yesterday from Gen. Curtis' army, that the 5th regiment of Kansas cavalry had rather a hard time in getting through from Rolla to Helens, being barrassed by guerrilla bands nearly all the way, and having, as the Gen-eral expressed it, to cut their way through nearly the entire march.

At the crossing of Black river, quite a severe akirmish occurred with a strong force of rebel cavalry, who, under the command of a certain Col. Johnson, attempted to dispute the passage of the river.

After a short fight, however, the Kansas boys succeeded in forcing their way across, when the rebels fled, carrying with them their dead and wounded.

It was reported that Col. Johnson and sixteen others of the rebels were killed. The loss of the Kansas boys was trifling, none killed, and but few wounded. We could not ascertain who this Colonel

Johnson was, but it is not unlikely that he belongs to the somewhat noted Arkansas family of that name, one of whose members is now in the Confederate Congress. The ateamer Golden Era, which reached here from Helens last evening, brings us later intelligence from the army of General

The entire force bus arrived at Helena, and they are now encamped near the

It is hardly probable that they will move rom there immediately, as the troops need est after their long and fatiguing march. The Era brought up about two hundred sick and disabled men from General Curtis' pated, considering the amount of fatigue and hardship which they have undergone. The Era brought one item of intelligence of considerable interest.

There is now in process of being organzed at Helcna the 1st Arkansas regiment of loyal troops composed of men who have oined Curtis' column during its march men, and the men composing it say that two or three regiments could be raised in people there could be turnished immediately | been. with arms to protect themselves. They represent the inhabitants of that section to have been originally mild Secessionists, but they have become so indignant at the outrages perpetrated by Van Dorn and Hindman, and their a sociate, that they are eady and anxious to take up arms against hem and their followers.

Latest from Vicksburg. The steamboat De Soto arrived from Vicksburg yesterday morning, and laid at our wharf only a few minutes. The De Soto left Vicksbug on Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. The last bombarding, previous to her departure, occurred on Saturday afternoon, and was quite brisk. When she left ail was quiet, and the prospect was that it would remain so for
